2025 Chapter Awards Submission Form : Entry # 438

Please submit a brief narrative (500 words or less) describing the nominee's achievements, contributions, and impact on emergency medicine.

Daniel Ayorinde is a dynamic and passionate emergency medicine resident whose achievements and contributions reflect his dedication to improving both patient care and the broader healthcare system. As a first-generation Nigerian-American, born in Washington, D.C., and having worked in the biotech industry before pursuing medicine, Daniel brings a unique perspective and a diverse skill set to his work in the emergency department.

Daniel completed his medical education at Howard University College of Medicine and is currently finishing his residency at Johns Hopkins, where he is deeply engaged in exploring key areas of healthcare administration, quality improvement, social determinants of health, and advocacy. His leadership and commitment to excellence have been evident throughout his career. As Chair of the Emergency Medicine Resident Association's Diversity and Equity Committee, he advocated for initiatives that foster inclusivity and equity within emergency medicine. Additionally, his contributions to the Maryland ACEP Board of Directors have positioned him as a prominent voice in shaping policy and practices that impact both clinicians and patients.

In his departmental roles at Johns Hopkins, Daniel has focused on enhancing clinical efficiency, improving operations, and ensuring patient safety. His work includes developing protocols for managing uncomplicated distal upper extremity fractures, which streamlined care for these common injuries and improved patient outcomes. Furthermore, Daniel played a pivotal role in creating resuscitation guidance tools that aid in quick, evidence-based decision-making during critical moments in the ED.

His innovative approach extends to research, where he led a de-implementation study on transthoracic echocardiogram use in syncope evaluation. This study has the potential to reduce unnecessary tests, optimizing resource allocation and enhancing the quality of patient care.

Daniel's influence extends beyond his professional work; he is passionate about mentorship and community engagement. In his personal life, he enjoys exercise, travel, and sports, with a particular affinity for the Wizards, Manchester United, and the Rams. A devoted mentor, Daniel spends his free time guiding and supporting youth, embodying the values of leadership and service.

In the upcoming year, Daniel is excited to join the University of Pennsylvania, where he will undoubtedly continue to make a lasting impact on the field of emergency medicine. His combination of clinical expertise, leadership, and advocacy will be a tremendous asset to the UPenn community and to the broader field of emergency medicine.

2025 Chapter Awards Submission Form : Entry # 436

Please submit a brief narrative (500 words or less) describing the nominee's achievements, contributions, and impact on emergency medicine.

Dr. Adjei is a EM/IM combined resident at the University of Maryland, and demonstrates superb clinical leadership through clinical acumen, patient advocacy, engaging bedside manner, and positive attitude. Her spirit of altruism and service is evident in how she goes the extra mile for patients and engagement in service in local and global communities. I would be thrilled to have Dr. Adjei treat members of my family, and would know they are in expert hands. Already a stellar clinician, we expect Dr. Adjei to become a leader in emergency medicine, and would be a fantastic recipient of this award.

Yes

2025 Chapter Awards Submission Form : Entry # 422

Please submit a brief narrative (500 words or less) describing the nominee's achievements, contributions, and impact on emergency medicine.

Dr. Babette Newman is an exceptional clinician and up and coming leader within emergency medicine. She has been interested in emergency medicine long before her official training, having worked as a medical scribe at the BWMC emergency department in the years before medical school. Now as a resident at the University of Maryland, she is recognized as a clinical leader amongst her peers.

Dr. Newman has already been selected to become of the program's Chief Residents next year, during which time she will also complete a fellowship year in EM Administration. She has been an active member already of our department's Peer Review Committee, and also was also selected as a representative for our institution's Accreditation Council for GME Clinical Learning Environment Review. She has completed an EM Administration elective, and demonstrates great passion for finding ways to improve patient-centered care in the department. This passion was most recently reflected in an excellent publication that she co-authored on Emergency Department Management of Patients with Sickle Cell Disease (published in EM Practice).

In summary, Dr. Newman is an excellent resident who embodies the highest standards of emergency medicine. She has a bright future ahead of her, and I firmly believe that she is most deserving of being recognized as Resident of the Year.

2025 Chapter Awards Submission Form : Entry # 421

Please submit a brief narrative (500 words or less) describing the nominee's achievements, contributions, and impact on emergency medicine.

Dr. Wynne is an exceptional resident in our institution's Emergency Medicine/Internal Medicine/Critical Care Medicine. The only doctors willing to dedicate THAT much time to their training, are the ones who want to embody the highest standards of emergency medicine. Needless to say, Dr. Wynne demonstrates exceptional clinical promise and skill on shift in the ED. It doesn't matter if the patient has an LVAD, six transplants, or needs to be put on simultaneous ECMO + CRRT - Dr. Wynne has done it all.

He is currently serving as a Chief Resident of the EM/IM Residency, and has maintained positions on key departmental committees including the AED Resuscitation Committee and the Program Evaluation Committee. He is dedicated to advancing the skills of his fellow residents. He was the Lead Organizer of the 2023 EM/IM Procedure Day, and in 2024 has served as an instructor for the Pediatric Residency Opioid Simulation and as a Co-Instructor for Department of Medicine Cardiac Arrest Education. He's already published 3 peer-reviewed journal articles, 7 non-peer-reviewed articles, 2 book chapters, and recorded 6 podcasts.

In summary, Dr. Wynne is a talented and dedicated resident who is always willing to lead the charge when it comes to taking care of some of our sickest and most complex patients. And that is why is quite deserving of Resident of the Year.
